In the news $20,000 in heroin at JFK

A Nigerian woman allegedly hid $20,000 worth of heroin under her dress at JFK airport, according to the Daily News. Afolake Awoyemi, 42, attracted the attention of a U.S. Customs and Border Protection inspector ater disembarking an Air France flight from Paris on Wednesday. Pellets, containing brown powder, allegedly dropped from her groin, and tested positive for heroin, officials said. © METRO/EAE

Cemetery real estate rises from the grave

▶ Graveyards can be a friendly neighbor, real estate agents say
▶ Never block the view and provide plenty of quiet ▶ But not everyone wants to wake up near the departed

In a city that never sleeps, some people prefer to live next to those who sleep forever.

Real estate agents say cemeteries can be an easy sell to renters who want a quiet apartment and unobstructed view. And New Yorkers themselves say they'd often prefer a graveyard than noisy neighbors.

Amy Bethard, 33, a television producer walking her dog yesterday near Brooklyn's Green-Wood Cemetery, said she loves how no skyscrapers block the scenery.

"I like that it's quiet and open, and there aren't a lot of buildings," she said. "It's pretty."

City cemeteries are even amping up their efforts to attract visitors, according to a recent Crain's article, which can also attract residents. GreenWood, in Sunset Park, attracted 40,000 visitors in 2011, 10 times the amount that came a decade earlier, Crain's reported. And in the Bronx, Woodlawn Cemetery's 2011 attendance was 3,000, six times the amount 10 years ago.

"My sales pitch is that your neighbors don't make any noise," said Steve Castellon, 30, an agent at Sunset Park Rapid Realty.

Still, gravestones don't attract everyone.

"People feel like it would not be the best way to start their day, when they walk out the door and see plots of dead people," Citi Habitats broker Anthony DellaCave said.

Perks of eternal neighbors

A cemetery as neighbor can also knock the rent down, Castellon said.

In Sunset Park, a one-bedroom apartment can start around $1,200, he said. "Right by the cemetery we'll have a little more leverage to negotiate the landlord," Castellon said. "You're right across the street from the cemetery, and we'll knock it down $100." One uptown mother told Metro that while looking to move from the Upper West Side, she found great graveside real estate deals. • METRO/AB

Eternal appeal

Cemeteries like Green-Wood and Woodlawn offer tours of the grounds — and gravestones with famous names like Joseph Pulitzer and Horace Greeley.

But the type of cemetery can make a difference — a leafy open space where residents roller blade or stroll, for example, is more likely to attract neighbors than packed gravestones, Killian said.

Mets revenue declines

QUEENS. The Mets are not getting enough fans in the nearly new seats at Citi Field. Last year, ticket sales totaled $50.6 million, but in 2009, they brought in $99.3 million, according to financial records reported yesterday.

And revenues are down about 30 percent since 2009. Newsday, which obtained the documents, reported that overall attendance declined 26 percent, to 2.3 million, and concession revenue also dropped 28 percent — bringing in just over $10 million.

The decreasing numbers continued — parking was also down 37 percent, to $7 million.

The lease of the Mets stadium is $1 million, according to the New York Post. • METRO/AB

Senator: Smartphone apps need investigation

New York Sen. Charles Schumer wants to make sure no one is taking private photos from New Yorkers' phones.

Schumer called on the Federal Trade Commission yesterday to investigate whether smartphone applications sold for Apple and Android gadgets are stealing private photos and address books.

His request followed reports alleging that numerous applications are taking advantage of software loopholes — one in the Apple operating system and one in the Android operating system — that allow apps to gather users' photos and private information and transmit them elsewhere.

"When someone takes a private photo, on a private cell phone, it should remain just "When someone takes a private photo, on a private cell phone, it should remain just that — private. Smartphone developers have an obligation to protect the private content of their users." SEN. SCHUMER that — private," Schumer said. "Smartphone developers have an obligation to protect the private content of their users."

Schumer pointed to one application, which he did not name, on Apple devices like the iPhone and iPad, that was able to upload entire address books with names, phone numbers and e-mail addresses to its own servers without a customer's consent.

"It sends shivers up the spine to think that one's personal photos, address book, and who-knows-what-else can be obtained and even posted online — without consent," Schumer added.

Schumer is asking the FTC to investigate the extent to which the "privacy invasion" is commonplace and whether or not the practice constitutes an unfair or deceptive trade practice.

Two men charged in Queens murder

JAMAICA. Police arrested two men allegedly involved in a weekend murder. While monitoring a camera inside the Jamaica Houses Friday, cops saw a man collapsing. They radioed the suspects' descriptions to nearby officers, who responded while the victim — who cops identified as Daryl Adams, 18 — was attempting to run away from shooters. Cops said two suspects then shot at Adams a second time, killing him. They arrived to find a man with a gun standing over his body. Queens residents Alexander Burgess, 16, and Sean Barnhill, 19, were charged with murder. While executing a search warrant after the arrests, cops found five guns and arrested 11 people.

Our solution: Viscosupplementation therapy

Hyalgan® was the first type of natural knee injection approved by the FDA in 1996.

Viscosupplementation therapy is a procedure involving the injection of gel-like substances (hyaluronates) into a joint to supplement the viscous properties of synovial fluid. This procedure has been shown to be highly successful at alleviating pain associated with osteoarthritis and is covered by most major medical insurance providers.

We have elected to utilize Hyalgan® as our injectable of choice for our viscosupplementation therapy program. Hyalgan® consists of a mixture of sodium hyaluronate that is found naturally and extracted from rooster combs.

We also utilize a breakthrough piece of medical equipment at our facility called fluoroscopy. This is a very important point because fluoroscopy allows our medical staff to look inside your joints in real time with the latest imaging technology while administering any of our minimally invasive injection procedures. This instrument helps to insure that the injected material is introduced to the exact point intended and therefore provides the best possible outcome from each injection.

Barnard nabs Bam for commencement

Obama to visit Barnard with a commencement speech in May Oschool's head calls visit a 'thrill'

Barnard students better pay attention to this year's commencement speech — it's going to be presidential President Barack Obama will be speaking on Columbia University's South Lawn at Barnard College's commencement, the school announced on Saturday.

Barnard, an independent liberal arts women's college, is one of the four undergraduate schools of Columbia University. President Obama graduated from Columbia in 1983.

"Each year, President Obama selects a small number of schools at which to deliver commencement addresses," Barnard president Deborah Spar said in a letter. "This year, the president has chosen Barnard College."

She said that President Obama's visit will be "a thrill" and was a "testament to the collective achievement of all Barnard graduates."

College."

BARNARD PRESIDENT DEBORAH SPAR

The college will present the president with a Barnard Medal of Distinction, the college's highest honor, at the ceremony.

The college's last three commencement speakers

The college's last three commencement speakers were Sheryl Sandberg of Facebook, the actress Meryl Streep and Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Jill Abramson, executive editor of The New York Times, was previously scheduled to be the school's keynote speaker. The school has said that it plans to have her back at Barnard at a later date

The president has until May 14 to perfect his address.

All of New York can listen to the commencement speech as well, as Spar has promised to make the commander-in-chief's address available online.

Man dies after Saturday night birthday party

JACKSON HEIGHTS. A man died while traveling between parties in Queens on Sunday morning.

According to the Daily News, a 21-year-old man fell asleep while in a car with two friends and could not be woken up.

The group was reportedly traveling from a birthday party to a Roosevelt Avenue bar early Sunday.

But when they reached the bar shortly before 2 a.m., the friends found the man unconscious.

Friends in the group dialed 911, according to the Daily News.

He was rushed to the hospital but died, officials said.

The medical examiner will determine a cause of death.

Police officers told the newspaper they do not suspect any criminality in the death. • METRO/AB

Super Tuesday looking up for Romney

Mitt Romney closed in on Rick Santorum in Ohio and picked up a crucial endorsement in Virginia yesterday as he grows in strength ahead of "Super Tuesday," the biggest day yet in the race for the 2012 Republican presidential nomination.

A Reuters/Ipsos poll found Romney, a former Massachusetts governor, is tied with Santorum at 32 percent support from likely voters in the Ohio Republican primary, the most important of the 10 state nominating contests tomorrow.

Santorum, a former Pennsylvania senator who is a social conservative with a strong blue-collar message,

had been leading in polls in the economically hard-hit Midwestern state by double digits in recent weeks.

Santorum needs an Ohio win to prove he remains a threat to Romney after losing Michigan and Arizona to him last week.

But Romney's five straight victories in Maine, Michigan, Arizona, Wyoming and Washington state have given him a burst of momentum despite some serious reservations about him from conservatives who have flirted with a variety of alternatives.

Too much 'loose talk' on Iran war

President Barack Obama warned yesterday against "loose talk" of a war with Iran ahead of a crucial meeting during which he will urge Israel's prime minister to avoid a premature strike on the Islamic Republic's nuclear facilities.

On the eve of his talks with Benjamin Netanyahu, Obama used a speech to the pro-Israel U.S. lobbying group AIPAC to pledge his staunch support for the Jewish state and to argue that international sanctions on Iran must be given more time to work.

But there was no sign he and Netanyahu were moving any closer to agreeing on their approach to Iran.

Obama said the "bluster" about a military strike was counterproductive because it has been driving up global oil prices, boosting demand for Ahmadinejad a lame duck?

TEHRAN. Clerical Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei has tightened his grip on Iran's factionridden politics after loyalists won over 75 percent of seats in parliamentary elections at the expense of President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, a nearcomplete count showed. The widespread defeat of Ahmadinejad supporters - including his sister, Parvin Ahmadinejad — is expected to reduce the president to a lame duck after he sowed divisions by challenging the utmost authority of Khamenei in the governing hierarchy.

Iranian oil and helping to offset the impact of sanctions on its economy.

"I firmly believe that an opportunity remains for diplomacy — backed by pressure — to succeed," Obama told the crowd of 13,000 people in a cavernous ballroom.

"I would ask that we all remember the weightiness of these issues [and] the stakes involved for Israel, for America and for the world. Already, there is too much loose talk of war," he added.

Obama did not accuse any particular person or country of the "loose talk."

Obama's meeting with Netanyahu today comes amid U.S. fears that Israel might opt to strike Iran on its own if it is not convinced of U.S. resolve to stop Tehran from acquiring a nuclear weapon.

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

Limbaugh sorry for calling girl a slut

Right-wing talk-show host Rush Limbaugh, roundly criticized for branding a law student a "slut" over her outspoken support of President Barack Obama's new policy on contraception coverage, apologized on Saturday for his "insulting word choices."

The furor over Limbaugh's comments, made on his influential radio program, prompted Obama to call the 30-year-old Georgetown University law student and women's rights activist, Sandra Fluke, on Friday to express his support.

"My choice of words was not the best; and in the attempt to be humorous, I created a national stir," Limbaugh said in a written statement. "I sincerely apologize to Ms. Fluke for the insulting word choices."

Fluke, who has advocated making contraception available to all women, was caught in the middle of a contentious election-year fight between Obama and Republicans over the president's policy that requires health insurance plans to cover contraception.

Religious-affiliated organizations, the Roman Catholic Church and social conservatives have protested the policy as an infringement on religious liberty. An effort by Republicans in the Senate to overturn it failed this week. RELITERS

Calm returns to tornado zone, storms left 39 dead

Calm weather gave dazed residents of storm-wracked towns a respite early yesterday as they dug out from a chain of tornadoes that cut a swath of destruction from the Midwest to the Gulf of Mexico, killing at least 39 people.

The fast-moving twisters spawned by massive thunderstorms damaged schools and a prison, splintered blocks of homes and tossed around vehicles like toys — killing 20 people in Kentucky, 14 in neighboring Indiana, three in Ohio and one in Alabama, officials said. Georgia also reported a storm-related death.

"We're not unfamiliar with Mother Nature's wrath out here in Indiana," Gov. Mitch Daniels told CNN during a visit to the stricken southeast corner of the state.

"But this is about as serious as we've seen in the years since I've been in this job," he said, standing against the backdrop of the hard-hit town of Henryville, which declared a nighttime curfew to prevent looting. REUTERS

Chavez has cancer again

CARACAS. President Hugo Chavez said he will need radiation treatment for cancer in the run-up to Venezuela's October presidential poll, though he insisted there was no metastasis after the removal of another tumor.

"I will live! I will overcome!" the 57-year-old socialist leader said in a televised meeting with some cabinet colleagues from Cuba, where he underwent an operation six days ago for a recurrence of the cancer that struck him last year. REUTERS

Putin wins Russian election

MOSCOW. Vladimir Putin claimed victory in Russia's presidential election yesterday and, tears rolling down his cheeks, said it was a historical turning point that had prevented the country falling into the hands of enemies trying to usurp power.

The prime minister's opponents said there had been widespread fraud in the election. They refused to recognize the results and vowed to press on with the biggest protests since he rose to power 12 years ago. REUTERS oday is the Monday directly preceding Super Tuesday — in which the four remaining Republican presidential candidates will vie for their slice of the proportional delegate pie — and you know what that means: endless speculation on the outcome of tomorrow's votes. We'd hate to disappoint.

Super Tuesday, historically the day on which the largest amount of delegates is awarded to primary candidates, is a bit stunted this year: In 2008, 24 states held contests on the heroically designated day, with 41 percent of total party delegates at stake; this year only 10 states are participating, representing 419 delegates, or 36 percent of the total needed to win the nomination, 1,144. The following states are holding votes today: Alaska, Georgia, Idaho, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont and Virginia.

Of the above listed states, the one that will likely get the most media coverage today is Ohio — and not just because, like this great nation herself,

GET FED

Because sometimes you only have time to skim the headlines:

- "Romney catches Santorum in Ohio dead heat" REUTERS
- "Romney the Inevitable: A Back to the Future GOP Moment" NATIONAL JOURNAL
- "What's so super about Tuesday? 419 GOP delegates" ASSOCIATED PRESS

it's both round (on the ends) and high (in the middle). As pundits will repeat ad nauseum, Ohio is a bellwether state: No Republican nominee has ever become president without winning it. It also represents the second-largest delegate haul of the day, with 63 to Georgia's 76. Moreover, the diverse state is seemingly up for grabs, as opposed to the Southern state where Gingrich thinks he dominates: According to a Reuters-Ipsos poll released yesterday, Mitt egardless of who wins which states, however, Super Tuesday won't dramatically change the campaign narrative. Even if Romney wins all 419 delegates, for instance, a virtual impossibility given proportional allocation, he'll have shored up only 612 delegates, around half the total necessary. And Rick Santorum, whose campaign gathered impressive momentum after triple wins in Minnesota, Colorado and Missouri last month, is at a disadvantage given a pair of missteps — failing to secure a spot on the ballot in Virginia, meaning he cedes those 46 delegates to Romney and Ron Paul, and also not qualifying in some Ohio congressional districts. Gingrich, for his part, has been waiting for this day, though exactly why is not perfectly clear: Even if he dominates in Georgia he'll still only have 93 delegates, about equal to Santorum's total as of today.

Romney and Rick Santorum are in "a dead heat" in the Rust Belt swing state, tied with 32 percent support from likely voters.

All of which is to say that Super Tuesday isn't shaping up to be particularly spectacular for any of the candidates—except, perhaps, for Romney; who, with his already commanding lead and (bruised though it may be) mantle of inevitability, may be able to scoop up enough votes to ensure his slow-but-steady eventual nomination.

Once a 'Jackass,' always a jackass

Considering he's 32 years old, Bam Margera's 2012 is off to a suspicious start. After his Mardi Gras pool-hopping arrest in New Orleans, the former "Jackass" star spent last weekend fighting over a girl — with a pro boxer.

Sources tell TMZ that Margera and a woman were hanging out in Adelaide, Australia, when her exboyfriend, an unidentified featherweight champion, approached them. Surprisingly, the boys weren't able to talk
this one through, and a fight broke out. The sources go on to say that Margera "didn't get hurt that bad" and "held his own."

Well, for now, at least. Forget jealous Australian boxers — Margera is married to a Philly girl.

A thief pretending to be Grammy Award-winning violinist

Joshua Bell snuck into his hotel room in Spain last week and helped himself to quite a few valuables. After gaining access to the room, the impersonator called security and asked for help opening the safe, reports TMZ. Included in the loot? A $38,000 watch.

"I was amazed at how easy it was for this to occur," Bell tells the site.

And we're amazed that a violinist can drop $38,000 on a watch. What does this guy drive?

Why are we talking about Kirk Cameron?

Kirk Cameron shared his views on homosexuality and gay marriage during an appearance on "Piers Morgan Tonight" on Friday. "I think that it's detrimental and ultimately destructive to so many of the foundations of civilization," said the former child actor.

GLAAD had a snappy comeback, while Morgan supported his guest's decision to voice his opinions — which we suppose we need to get behind in the name of free speech or whatever. But in the future, Morgan, let's just ask the kid from "Growing Pains" what's good on the brunch menu and move on.

Talking points

Demi Moore checks into vacation

Demi Moore has reportedly checked out of the Cirque Lodge rehab facility in Utah and immediately headed off "on vacation" to an undisclosed location, according to E! News. "She's in no rush to get back to L.A.," a source says. "She's on total lockdown and only talking to a small group of people." The actress checked into the facility in January to deal with an eating disorder and addiction issues after a headline-grabbing hospitalization. Her rep had no comment on the location change.

Health is first for Nick Cannon

Nick Cannon is opening up about his recent trips to the emergency room. "It's a lot of stuff, but it's all in order now," Cannon tells People mag. "They kind of say [my] autoimmune [disease] is — like a lupus type of thing, but no one else in my family has it." Cannon was first hospitalized for "mild kidney failure" in January, and then again a few weeks later because of a blood clot in his lungs. "The blood clot thing was probably the scariest, because I've known people who have passed away from that," Cannon says. His doctors' advice? Quit some of his jobs, like a gig hosting a NY radio show, which he recently gave up. "I'm just trying to make sure I put my health first," he says.

Justin Bieber is all grown up, talking about a family

Newly minted adult Justin Bieber is looking forward to some alone time now that he's 18. "Eighteen requires a lot of responsibilities. Moving out requires me to be alone — without my parents. So, legally, I can make any decision I want," he tells MTV News, "My mom's still going to be there, probably, calling me every day. Probably won't be able to get away from her for too long." And now that he's all grown up, Bieber is looking even further into the future: "I see myself in 10 years having a family," he says.

Can Lindsay Lohan make a comeback?

♦ She's under probation, but has already started her media campaign to be taken seriously ♠ Metro checked in with a psychotherapist to gauge the actress' chances

Do you remember Lindsay Lohan when she was a talented child actress, before the puffy face and handcuffs? We're struggling.

The 25-year-old is now better known as an addict than as an actress, but has the combination of jail time, therapy and community service at a morgue finally made her come to her senses?

Psychotherapist Sherry Gaba has doubts over Lohan's sobriety. "When a person is sober, they usually know their sobriety date without question. She did not give it in her most recent interview, so I am not so sure that she is," says Gaba of last week's chat with Matt Lauer for "The Today Show."

On the other hand, Lohan's career seems to be back on track, and she's being tipped for the coveted role of Elizabeth Taylor in the upcoming "Elizabeth and Richard: A Love Story" — provided she behaves.

"Getting and staying sober is a one-day-at-a-time program," says Gaba. "Lindsay will need to continue to stay close to a recovery program that will need to include 12-step meetings, a sponsor and possibly psychotherapy to deal with the underlying issues that have led to her numerous relapses."

Gaba believes there is no guarantee that Lohan will stay clean forever: "Only if she is willing to make her recovery her No. 1 priority will she have an excellent chance of living a fulfilling and sober life."

METRO WORLD NEWS IN LONDON

Child star trouble

Like other troubled former child stars (Drew Barrymore, Corey Haim, Corey Feldman and Britney Spears, just to name a few), Lindsay's unusual upbringing may have contributed to her current problems.

"Child stars often become 'adult children' with highly stressful responsibilities. As young adults, they sometimes attempt to re-capture their lost childhoods by acting out and behaving in self-destructive ways, which may be one of the reasons Lindsay has been so troubled," says Gaba.

Q&A

Will probation and rehab be enough?

"She needs ... people who have her back and bring out the best in her, not [those who] drag her down in their chaos," says Gaba.

WIN A CHANCE TO GO TO SPACE!

• Win a life-changing trip into space, courtesy of Metro Tell us why you should be Metro's first astronaut and you could follow in NASA's footsteps

etro, the No. 1 free daily newspaper in the United States today gives one lucky reader the chance to win what is truly a trip of a lifetime — a journey into space.

Metro and our sister titles at the Metro International group, have partnered with SXC -Space Expedition Curacao — to take a reader on a flight from the company's base into space and back.

Metro readers are asked to submit an inspiring reason why they'd like to go into space to special website: http://metroinspace.com/us.

Readers are then challenged to gather as many Facebook likes and votes as possible using social media.

Each Metro country around the world will select a local winner who will then go before a global jury comprised of members of SXC and Metro staff.

The jury will conduct in-

The finalists will be announced in the edition of April 12 this year in a global special edition dedicated to the topic of space and the future of space

The space flight will be taken aboard SXC's vehicle, the Lynx.

And before that our winner will travel to Holland for an in-depth preparation and training exercise, which will include a session in a state of the art space flight simulator, as well as a training flight in a highperformance jet, to simulate the most important phases of space flight.

Rick Searfoss, a NASA astronaut and a commander of the space shuttle, who is also chief test pilot of the Lynx, told Metro: "Being in space is an experience that has truly changed my life. I flew the space shuttle three times but the first time was by far the most impactful. I'm a little bit jealous of the person that's going to win. The Metro Race for Space: for him or her, this unique experience is still to come."

Michiel Mol, one of the founders of SXC said today: "It's our mission to make space accessible for the world. Working together with what is probably the world's most accessible news medium is a perfect match."

The eco-message

Lou Dobbs made waves recently by insisting that "The Lorax" is an insidious attempt to indoctrinate children into an anti-industry mind-set.

Danny DeVito insists the message is about being responsible while succeeding in business. "It's not saying that we can't be inventive and still think of things to sell or make or manufacture," De-Vito explains. "But the idea is that if we're going to take the goods from the Earth — the supplies, the materials from anywhere — we should think about the sustainability of it and the replenishing of it."

Lorax speaks

♠ ¿Como estas, Danny DeVito? The voice of the new Dr. Seuss film learned many languages for the role \(\mathbf{O} \) 'I really wanted to capture the performance,' says the comic actor anny DeVito is becoming quite the multilinguist — or at least that's what it looks like. For his new film, "The Lorax," DeVito took on the unprecedented task of recording foreign versions of the movie in Spanish, Italian, German and Russian. It turned out to be a much more monumental task than he'd expected, though. "It's a fun thing, but it's time-consuming. I thought it was going to be like a couple of days. I'll do German in a couple days. Right! It's more like a week," he admits.

"This is the thing, I don't speak any of those languages. I speak a tiny bit of Italian, but I did it all with coaches and phonetically," DeVito explains. "What I would do is tackle one at a time. And Universal brought in people from the country because sometimes the lines were very long. And there was no way for me in German or in Russian to get through that entire line without messing up some intonation. And I really wanted it to capture the performance, and I didn't want people to think I had an accent."

The process of recording each language took about five days in a recording studio for De-Vito and his advisers. The biggest lesson he learned in that time was that he should've kept things simpler when recording the English version — or at least stopped for a breath more often. "There are about 90 lines of mine in the movie, and some of them, sometimes you can't break them up," he explains. "Like if you say to me, 'Coma esta usted?' That's one thing. Or in Italian if you say, 'una tazza di caffe' — that means a cup of coffee — it's easy. But if you're saying something like, 'Didn't you see me come out of that stump with all the lightning and the thunder and this and that? Did you chop down that tree?' Well, I didn't think I was going to be doing this when I said those lines back then and didn't spit in the middle."

Normally, animated films get dubbed by local actors for each territory, so isn't he technically taking work away from actors in Europe?

"I did some Russian interviews on the phone and different places, and I always preface it with, 'I know that you guys have great actors to do this," DeVito explains. "It was just one of those things where I got it in my head to do it, and once I said I would do it I didn't want to back down."

Fire up your friendships

• It's time to take your relationship to the next level

• By that, we mean your relationship with your best bud

Zen in the city

oming down from the Valentine's Day mayhem can be a bit trippy for single folks. Sometimes the holiday can create a sense of separation and loneliness. Feel familiar? Here's a way to add more romance in every area of your life.

The thought that one person can be your source of inspiration, excitement and bliss is totally wacky. Open up to the possibility for more romance within your friendships.

This week, go on a date with a friend. The goal? To shake yourself out of your routines and recognize how fulfilling friendships can be. Enjoy your friend's company in a whole new way by focusing the same attention onto the friendship as you would a romantic partner. OK, no — you won't be making out with your best friend. But you can be equally inspired by your pal's personality and unique traits. By perceiving your friendship as more romantic, you'll strengthen your sense of companionship and oneness.

The benefit of shifting your perspective in friendship is not only that you have more fun, but that you let your romantic partner (or, if you're single, your future romantic partner) off the hook. When you bring more romance into your friendships, you no longer need a romantic partner to be your only source of happiness. This shift guides you to radiate a more confident energy and release neediness.

So set yourself free from the false perception that one special person will save you. Level the playing field and ignite fiery sparks in all your relationships!

Top US cities for iob-seekers

Times are tough everywhere; but when it comes to job markets, some cities are faring a little better. Considering relocating? We asked some experts to take a look at recent data.

► Austin, Texas: "Like other cities in the state, job growth is in the double digits and the housing market is steady with construction growth," says author and business coach Grant Cardone. "Add to that first-rate universities and expansion of government jobs, and this is a city that needs to be on the list for job-seekers."

▶ Williston, North Dakota: A rise in oil drilling near the Canadian border is turning sleepy towns like Williston into job-rich communities. "In the past 10 years, this has begun to transform western North Dakota from a mostly desolate and sparsely populated, endless plain into an engine of economic growth unseen in the U.S. in decades," says capital market specialist Peter Pham.

San Diego, California: "San Diego is showing the first signs of a rebound," says Cardone. Thought it was too pricey to actually live there? "The cost of housing has become more reasonable due to the housing correction of 2008," he says.

Interviewing

• Job interviews will never be easy, but the first few after graduating are especially tough • Author Lindsey Pollak on 'Getting from College to Career'

The dreaded job interview is a crucial hurdle to entering the job market. Author Lindsey Pollak has plenty of advice for firsttime job-hunters, from polishing your résumé to picking out an outfit. Her book, "Getting from College to Career," was recently re-released by Harper-Collins and updated to reflect the changing economy and technologies.

What's the first step to preparing for a job interview?

The biggest mistake people make is saying, "I'll just be my-self. I'll wing it." You need to research the organization: Visit its website, follow it on Twitter or Facebook, find out something about its products and services, culture, competitors

"If you can think about it from their perspective, you can really help yourself. They don't just want someone great; they want a great fit for who they are."

POLLAK and CEO.

How can you weave that information into the conversation in a natural way?

A lot of people go into interviews only thinking about themselves: "How am I going to make them think that I'm great?" But if you can think about it from their perspective, you can really help yourself.

They don't just want someone great; they want a great fit for who they are. The goal is to sound more like a peer or an industry insider, rather than someone starting from the beginning.

What are some common beginner mistakes?

I'm always surprised how many recruiters say people are late or dressed improperly. Another obvious no-no is leaving your cell phone on during the interview. Don't tell them you're interested in other fields. It's OK to have other interests, but your job in the interview is to get that specific job. Don't talk about anything salary-related in the initial interview.

You love that 'aha' moment; you want your students to love it. too.

Could you be a part of the MfA community? Learn more at www.mathforamerica.org

for beginners

Three steps to

sealing the deal:

- Call ahead
- If you're unsure what to wear to the interview, don't be afraid to call and ask for some guidelines for appropriate dress.
- Prepare your endgame

At the conclusion of almost any interview, the interviewer will ask if you have any questions about the job and company. Be prepared for this moment. It's a good time to show off your research and interest.

3 Say thank you Make sure to send a thank-you e-mail — or even a card — a day or two after the interview.

"Our Children Have Changed"

Korean Language and Culture Class at PS 68, Cheryle Coles, Principal

Feb. 12th. 2009

The "Project Arirang" at PS 68 in the Bronx has been gaining strength and momentum because of Principal Cheryle Coles "Students' interest in the Korean Culture has risen, and we would like to give them the opportunity to experience more of the Korean Culture." Ms. Coles says, "Ms. Kyoung-Mi Choi has a lot of patience and has become many qualities model as a wonderful teacher. Honestly, the children were opposed to the culture program at first, but their attitudes are now changing and the positive effects of the program can be seen. In addition, through the Korean Culture classes, the African American Students in the Bronx have become more respectful towards adults, making the program a big blessing for the entire community."

KangYiJongHeng, Reporter Kyjh69@koreadaily.com

Our president, Kyoungmi-Choi has been working in field of Education for last 25 years both in Korea and U.S. (Bronx). We see the phenomenal changes in children especially in Bronx area after learning Korean language and culture. Korean language is excellent resource for children to learn respect for others in a traditional manner. Children's attitude in Bronx area has been changed in a positive way and we see the hope and light from children through Korean language education. With the support of lots of principals, we were able to establish Korean American Heritage Foundation (Non-profit organization) and January, 2012 we were selected as one of the best Korean teaching institutes, "King Sejong institute in New York" by government of South Korea. South Korea government has 'King Sejong institute' in 35 different countries over 90 places. King Sejong Institute in New York is the first one in New York area.

On Saturday 31st of March 2012, King Sejong Institute in New York will host Korean language and culture program for non-native speakers including 1.5 and 2nd generation Korean-Americans sponsored by government of South Korea.

The gas problem: Whose fault is it?

As a consumer who depends on driving to get to work, I am appalled how we are being ripped off at the pump and I feel the reasons are most troubling. There are the threats coming from Iran, and then there are the Democratic policies that do little to stop the rising costs. Then there are the Wall Street speculators who profit when the price of oil is forced up — at consumers' expense. The Democrats' answer is more fuelefficient cars, which will take years to accomplish; then you have the Republican answer, which is drill, drill, drill - also no help in the short-term. I don't know the answer, but I think the silent majority needs to rise up and say. "Enough is enough, we are mad as hell and we won't take it anymore." Remember we have the power, and we will be listened to!

FREDERICK R. BEDELL, VIA E-MAIL

How stupid are we to let the bankster-puppet president, and puppet Congress and puppet media scare us into giving them an excuse to raise the price of gasoline to $5 just in time for summer vacation? They had to start early and take a few months to ramp it up. If Americans stand for this, they are as stupid as the oiligarchs think they are. CHARLES MICHAEL COUCH, BED-STUY

To anyone who doubts that Republicans always lie, ask yourself why they are attacking Obama (whom I dislike immensely because he's continued most of Bush's policies) for high gas prices.

Republicans promised us the free market and competition would give us the lowest prices — yet now they are whining daily that the opposite happened: Gas prices by private corporations are not the lowest! Republicans are begging for communism out loud: They say Obama should do something to curb the greed of big corporations! JANICE AMATO, NEW YORK

Israel so small, its enemies so large

How would U.S. citizens feel if threats as well as rockets were constantly launched against some other country aside from Israel — perhaps Italy, to be "wiped off the face of the Earth" — about the president's comment to not do anything until after the next election? All he worries about is getting re-elected. Israel never asks for U.S. soldiers, just verbal support. Israel is so small, and surrounded by very large hostile countries, yet it's expected to sit back and do nothing to protect itself. Would they feel the same way if it were another country?

JOAN BACHMAN, HAZLET, NJ

Three ways Obama is dividing America

Three things I'd do if I were president: 1. Listen more and not dictate; 2. Secure the borders, deny employment to all illegals and their offspring; 3. Cut spending, cut government, stop printing money and stop all handouts to other nations except those threatened; 4. Halt the affordable health care bill and review it with bipartisan participation; 5. Stop the flood of imports from China. None of the above will be done if this administration continues past November. This administration is dividing America.

JOHN E. BOVINSKI, MANAYUNK

Horoscope

H Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Co-workers are likely to follow your lead, so do your best to provide a good example. If things don't go well, you should stop a minute and give others ideas on making corrections.

T Aries March 21-April 19. If you depart from prudent spending, you'll watch your bank account disappear in two shakes. Get hold of yourself and put a stop to the insanity.

¥ Taurus April 20-May 20. Unfortunately, it isn't likely that you'll be able to keep your problems to a minimum, mostly due to you think ing that you can do what you want without any consequences.

m I\hspace{-.1em}I}$ Gemini May 21-June 20. Be careful if matters don't go exactly as you think they should. To counteract an unexpected wrinkle, you could adopt an unwise strategy that would make matters much worse.

€ Cancer June 21-July 22. It would be sagacious to have someone check your work if what you're doing involves a lot of facts and figures. A huge mistake could result from one tiny error.

Ω Leo July 23-Aug. 22. By deliberately acting in a manner that is diametrically opposed to persons who are trying to help you, you will only end up looking belligerent and ungrateful.

TV Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. You've heard it before: "If you can't say something nice about someone, don't say anything at all." This could be especially wise thinking when dealing with in-laws.

← Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Don't try to overpower people when trying to get them to accept your suggestions. If they don't like your ideas, putting pressure on them would only make matters worse.

M Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. If the ideas you're espousing happen to conflict with the plans of others, trying to get your way would only add more stress to the situation. It's often wise to compromise.

₹ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. In order to appease the demands of your associates, you might switch courses far too often to be effective. Making changes for change's sake does nothing for nobody.

🗗 Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Doing something out of spite only makes matters worse for everyone, yourself included. In fact, such a move could easily boomerang, with you getting caught in the crosshairs and ending up taking all the hits.

Knock-out victory

▶ Rangers beat Bruins in brawl-filled contest ▶ Teams developing ugly rivalry ▶ Blueshirts have now won five straight against defending champs

Words were unnecessary, as Ryan McDonagh wore on his face all anyone needed to know about what had transpired at Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon.

The blood had not dried from the cut on McDonagh's right cheek, a reminder of the five-on-five gang fight immediately after the Rangers defeated the Bruins, 4-3. The win was the Rangers' third straight over the Bruins and fifth-straight dating back to last season.

"Just emotions run high. It's good stuff," McDonagh said of the clash. McDonagh and Milan Lucic exchanged gloved punches after Boston's left wing had hit the Rangers defenseman high and from behind to spark the scrum.

"I was trying to get the puck and he punched me. I punched him back," Lucic said matterof-factly. "And that generally leads to a scrum."

That both teams exchanged right crosses and cross words at the conclusion of the 60-minute litmus test was not surprising. Nor will it surprise these two teams find themselves embroiled in a playoff series in May.

Celtic Rajon Rondo's on-court play hasn't been altered by off-court trade speculation.

Rondo posts historic triple-double amid trade talk
 Knicks stage comeback
 But come up short in OT

Celtics point guard Rajon Rondo fired a shot across the bow of Celtics management with a historic performance yesterday afternoon. He also crushed a Knicks comeback in the process.

Much of the hype leading up to Sunday's showdown — between the last two teams currently in the Eastern Conference playoffs — surrounded the future of both clubs.

Are the Celtics too old to compete for a title? Are the Knicks on the ascension to being a title contender?

At least for one day, the two teams played their familiar roles in a 115-111 overtime win by the Celtics.

Rondo, who has been mentioned in trade rumors for weeks now, put on a spectacular show. He had 18 points, 20 assists and 17 rebounds to become the first player to accomplish the 17-17-17 barrier since Magic Johnson in April 1989, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Current Mavericks guard Jason Kidd, who faces the Knicks tomorrow night in Dallas, has reached 15-15-15 twice — most recently on Feb. 26, 2010, when he went for 19

Lin stumbles in return to Boston roots

No one knew who Jeremy Lin was on Feb. 3 when he played six minutes against the Celtics in a 91-89 loss by New York.

One night later, against the Nets, the Linsanity began.

Lin, who played four years at Harvard, returned to Boston for the first time as a starter and didn't exactly wow a crowd that included his former Crimson coach Tommy Amaker.

He finished the game with 14 points, five assists and six turnovers. He shot just 6-of-16 from the field and was in early foul trouble.

The Knicks don't travel to Boston again this season, unless they meet in the playoffs. • METRO points, 17 assists and 16 rebounds against the Hawks.

Celtics head coach Doc Rivers said before the game that the team was not actively shopping their point guard, but that they were listening to offers like they would with every player.

Expect a lot more calls and a lot more hang-ups after Sunday.

"Rondo is the smartest point guard I've ever been around," Rivers said after the game. "He knows plays from three years ago. He's a brilliant player."

The same old story for the Knicks means they still can't get over the hump against Boston. They've lost two-of-three this season and were swept in the playoffs last season. That is losses in six-of-seven if you're keeping track at home.

After Sunday, Knicks coach Mike D'Antoni may be chiding some opposing general managers into making a few more calls about Rondo's availability.

Qualify for a local clinical study and you may receive:

- FDA-approved ankle replacement device
- Study-related care from local study doctor
- Compensation for time and travel

Call: 866-785-8341 Visit www.MyAnklePainStudy.com

Night time trips to the bathroom keeping you awake?

We are currently recruiting men and women, age 50 years and older, for a research study to evaluate the effectiveness of an investigational nasal spray to reduce the number of times you get up each night to urinate.

If you wake two or more times each night to urinate and have experienced these symptoms regularly for six months or more, you may qualify for this study.

Qualified participants may receive confidential study related medical care, including physical exam, lab tests, and study medication, at no cost. Additional compensation for travel and other expenses may also be provided.

> For more information, please contact Catherine at 212-686-9015 ext. 29

ACNE

Eczema Psoriasis Rosacea Rashes

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

■ I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried products with Benzoyl Peroxide, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC ■ In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser. Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX ■ Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60. TRUE EVIDENCE that we are helping people.

High Blood Pressure?

High blood pressure is called the silent killer. If your BP is higher than normal, try to get it down to about 120/80. For many people it is easy to control. If it does not work for you we refund your money. On our website you will find over 50 testimonials with full names and towns from all over USA and Canada. Most of them have listed phone numbers and are happy to talk about the relief they had. No money was paid for testimonials.

Dr. C. Hammoud M.H., Ph.D. recommends this effective fish peptide blood pressure natural product. So does Dr. Julian Whitaker M.D. ■I was on 3 blood pressure drugs that did not work well. After starting Bell #26 my readings are generally well below 120/80. Dona A. Anderson, 76, Sooke, BC ■ My blood pressure was 157/90 and I had side effects from prescription drugs. I bought a monitor. After 6 months on Bell #26 I was down to 120/80. Toni L. McCuistion, 52, Elizabethtown, PA ■ At work my driver's medical test was too high at 170/100. After taking Bell #26 for a few days I went down to 128/84 which allowed me to pass my work medical. Kris Geier, 48, Windsor, ON.Bell is helping people everywhere.

In other towns try your local health food stores first. If they don't have it and don't want to order it for you. Order on our website or call us with Visa or Mastercard. S & H $9.95.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air):

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40. Hudson, NH Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, $MS \blacksquare It$ is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON Bell is helping people everywhere.

Cholesterol Control

■ Cholesterol and triglycerides under control! For the last 5-6 years I have been told that my cholesterol and triglycerides were out of line. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 my doctor said he was amazed about the change. This is a good product. Jerome Nettles, 51, Monroeville, AL All statin drugs gave me pain! My doctor tried them all on me. So he said to try a natural product. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 I have no more pain. I'm so happy about this. Deanna O'Neil, 63, Tecumseh, ON. I had great success with all Bell health products! In the last 2 years I had relief with Bell Prostate Ezee Flow Tea. HDL Cholesterol Management, Blood Pressure Combo and Stem Cell Activator. I love your products. They all work for me. Great results. That's all that matters. Basil Richards, 49, S.W. Ranches, FL ■20 years of high cholesterol alleviated! I had high cholesterol for 20 years and drugs didn't agree with me. After taking Bell Cholesterol Control #14 for 6 months I had a check-up and was surprised about the big improvement. I was delighted and extremely happy and so was my doctor. Norma Hrysio, 65, Lac Du Bonnet, MB. We supply TRUE EVIDENCE.
